A Return of a Highway laid out by the Selectmen of Deerfield this 5th. day of Decr. 1798 to be a highway forever viz. Beginning at a Red Oak tree marked H X on the Range between Deerfield and Northwood thence Southeasterly on an old wheel way as it is cut out & used on the lot No. 9 in the sixth Range 116 Rods on Moses Thompsons land, thence on Samuel Perkins land 58 to Joseph Kennistons land, thence on said Kennistons 12 Rods to a Beach tree marked H X thence leaving said old way running South 18 degrees West 32 Rods, thence South 28 degrees West 32 Rods, thence South 2 degrees West 26 Rods, thence South 42 degrees West 13 Rods to the highway leading by Josiah Batchelder's house about one Rod East from a Red Oak tree marked H X

Whereas the law has provided that no such highway be laid out without making Satisfaction to the Person or Persons through whose land the same shall be laid therefore we allow to Moses Thompson as many square Rods of the old Road that was laid out from Deerfield to Northwood in the Year 1786 through the Northwesterly Coner of the lot No. nine

in the sixth Range (then owned by Wm. Morril) we allow to Samuel Perkins for the damage the Road is going through his land six Dollars; also we allow to Mr. Joseph Kenniston for the damage the Road is going thro' his land fifteen Dollars — that part of the above Road that is laid out thro' Mr. Kenniston's land is a drift Way with a good Gate made at the Expence of Sd. Kenniston on the line between Samuel Perkins and and Mr. Kenniston also a Gate at the mouth of Sd. Road near Samuel Folsom's house Sd. Gates are to be kept in Repair by said Kenniston. — The above way is laid out two Rods in Width.

H. G. Colley } Committee"

The answer of Mr. Sperry referred to in the foregoing report is as follows

"To the Church and Society in Duxfield, - Greeting.

In all our ways it becomes us to proceed with caution, and in the fear of God be enquiring for the path of duty. On a subject so momentous as the settlement of the gospel ministry; I trust you have proceeded with careful deliberation and anxious enquiry. Having on the 28th & 30 Ult. expressed your desire as a society and church that I should settle with you as minister of Christ; I have endeavored to look to him who is perfect in knowledge for direction. To take the charge of your spiritual concerns, my respected friends, would be a laborious employment and the responsibility immeasurably great; who is sufficient for these things? and I can truly say what am I, that I should be thus distinguished. But the work of ministry is pleasing as well as arduous; it is a work to which I desire to devote myself wholly and look to the great head of the Church for a blessing, who, when I am weak is able to make strong.

The doctrines on which I trust the salvation of my soul, I have endeavored clearly, plainly and pointedly to preach to you; which doctrines some have approved, others, perhaps, have heard with indifference and some have avowedly disapproved. Those who have not been pleased and have expressed their disapprobation, I esteem as persons of respectability, and am happy to say, they have ever treated me with friendly attention.

The degree of unanimity expressed by your votes, the numbers and respectability of this town, mark this place as an important station for a faithful minister of Jesus; may the King of Heaven grant you such a blessing. Here I would express my regret, that the Church should be more divided than the Society. May the great Shepherd and Bishop of souls introduce among you the union, peace and discipline of the gospel.

The Church have given timely information of their opinion respecting infant baptism; that all persons of regular behavior and and conversation who wish to have their children baptized, shall have that privilege provided no objections shall be made by the Church; It is not the duty of a minister to say that no such persons shall shall bring their children to baptism; but it is his duty to see to it that whatever he does be done conscientiously: were I to become your minister that article must be defined, till I can see my way clear to comply with it.

To you my friends, I did hold myself sacredly devoted, to labour with you in word and doctrine, were circumstances such that I could labour with you under suitable advantages. I have consulted ministers whose actual experience renders them suitable advisers in this case; some with whom I have consulted are in a measure strangers to me; but are acquainted with you, and anxious for the resettlement of the gospel ministry among you. I have consulted others highly esteemed for their piety and sincere regard for the prosperity of Sion, and it is the united voice of all that I should both injure myself and you, were I to accept of your proposals. It is their united opinion that on the conditions you have proposed I could not bestow that undivided attention upon the sacred duties of the ministry which is incumbent on an embassador of Christ; but I would not rest my conclusion on this subject on the opinion of the wisest and best of men; I have consulted the holy scriptures which I hope ever to take as my guide, and even there I cannot find it my duty to comply with your request: I there find it the duty of a minister to be given to hospitality, to be charitable to the poor, and I do not find that he will fall under less censure than other men if he does not provide for his own. But how shall he provide for his own? shall he be obliged to neglect the functions of his sacred office and turn his attention to worldly things? Nay; scripture requires that a minister should devote himself wholly to the sacred office. If it were necessary for such a man as Timothy to "give attendance to reading, to exhortation and doctrine" and devote himself exclusively to the ministry; is it not far more necessary for ministers now? How then shall they be supplied with the necessaries of life? Scripture informs us that they shall be supported as the priests were of old, when they who waited at the altar were partakers with the altar. Even so hath the Lord ordained that they who preach the gospel shall live of the gospel. But some are ready perhaps to object to the doctrine already advanced and assert for argument that St. Paul laboured with his hands for his own support. True, but he then was preaching among heathen, and were you heathen, I should also think it my duty. But you are a Christian people, in a christian land, great in numbers, abundantly blessed with the good things of this world, able to contribute ample support, and I hope desirous to have a minister of Christ wholly devoted to your spiritual concerns.

Feeling conscious that I did not enter into the ministry in order to gain wealth and that I require nothing more of any people than an adequate support so that I may devote myself wholly to the duties of the sacred office on which I have entered, I can more boldly deny my services where that support is not given. Had you proposed to me in as comfortable circumstances as your fathers (who were fewer in number and less wealthy than yourselves) first put your late deceased Pastor in, I should have considered it sufficient, so that I might devote myself to your spiritual concerns, free in a great measure from perplexing worldly cares.

I most sincerely wish you the best of heavens gifts; but it is with a fervent desire that when you have an ascension gift of Christ you will do yourselves honor in his support. I feel it my duty thus plainly to give you my reasons for your future benefit, although I should expose myself to censure and calumny.

In concluding my answer to your invitation it is with painful emotions that I am constrained to say I cannot comply with your proposals. After careful and prayerful attention I am fully convinced it would be both injurious to you and me.

That God would direct you to measures which may in due time establish among you a faithful minister of Christ is my fervent prayer. Whenever God shall cast my lot, I shall ever feel a lively interest in your welfare, and whenever I hear of your state, shall rejoice at your prosperity, and sorrow in your sorrows.

Now

Now I would commend you to God and the word of his grace who is able to build you up and give you an inheritance among all them that are sanctified.

Nov. 22d. A.D. 1811. Ebenezer F. Sperry

Monday, May 18th 1812. Met according to Adjournment.

Voted, That Mr. Wells' answer to the Call given him to settle in the ministry be accepted and recorded in the Records of this Town; which answer is as follows, namely,

" To the Church of Christ, and to the Congregational, religious Society in Deerfield

In answer to the invitation which has been given me by this Church and religious Society, to settle with them in the work of the gospel ministry. I shall observe that I am deeply sensible of the importance of the charge which I am invited to

to take upon me, and of the great difficulty of discharging aright the duties of the office to which I am called; and that I am deeply sensible of my utter insufficiency in myself for these things, and of the great need I have of Divine assistance, and of the countenance, aid and support of all good men.

I have attentively considered the leadings of Divine Providence, in first opening a way for my entering upon the ministry, and then ordering things so that I should come to this place, and in causing the people who belong to this Society so generally to unite in the invitation they have given me. In all these things I see nothing supernatural; but I see the hand of God, ordering and disposing things in the course of his Providence, in such a manner, as induces me to believe that I am called by him, as well as by this church and society, to take upon myself this important charge, however unequal to it I may feel myself to be.

In respect to the offers which have been made me by the people of this Society in regard to my support, it was my wish not not to have been consulted respecting it. It was my wish that the people should offer what they were freely and voluntary disposed to offer, without regard to the question whether I should accept or not. Accordingly when the Committee applied for information, respecting my ideas on this subject I thought it by no means proper to state any sum, but told them, if they thought proper to make proposals, I would inform them whether they would be satisfactory; they made proposals which were entirely satisfactory to me, and we agreed to by the people. But I am informed that, though the sum proposed by the Committee was agreed to and voted for by the people, under particular circumstances; yet, there are some who think that the salary voted is twenty five dollars more than it ought to be. And as I do not wish for any thing that will be burdensome, though in my circumstances I think it probable enough that I may need it, yet I shall given up and relinquish the twenty five dollars; being persuaded, that if I settle in this place, I shall settle among a people who will not their minister in want if he be prudent and faithful. However this may be, I had rather trust in him who commanded the ravens to feed his prophet, than to receive any thing which is burdensome, or which shall excite any disagreable feelings in those who give it.

As I trust that God, in his Providence, has sent me among you, and that it is by the ordering and disposal of his Providence, that you have disposed to give me a Call, I freely and heartily accept your invitation; hoping that God, who can bring about the purposes of his grace and mercy by the weakest means, will make me an instrument, in his hand, of saving benefit to this people. With this hope I would invite and request the united endeavours of all the friends of God and religion, to aid and assist me in this important business: And above all, I would request your earnest and fervent prayers to God, that I may have the guidance and assistance of his Holy Spirit; that his Spirit of truth may lead me into all truth, and that he would accompany with his blessing the means that may be used for the conversion and salvation of sinners.

Hoping, that by the united exertions of all the friends of Zion in this place, it will please God to bless this people with all spiritual blessings heavenly things in Christ Jesus, I freely tender my feeble Services in this cause. And may the Lord send his blessing with them, and make them instrumental in bringing about that reformation which is so much needed. May every species of vice and immorality among us be suppressed; may superstition and irreligion be done away; may errors of every kind be corrected; and may the truth as it is in Jesus be universally embraced: that we may do what is in our power to prepare the way for the arrival of that happy period when all shall know the Lord from the least to the greatest.
